

The Black Women in Entertainment Law Foundation (BWEL) recently co-hosted an industry toast and reception in Los Angeles with Fox Rothschild LLP to acknowledge the leading African American women in the entertainment industry and raise funds for scholarships. Those being honored are, from left, Toni Judkins, senior vice president, production and programming at TV One; Pearlana Igbokwe, senior vice president of original programming at Showtime Network, and Dana Sims, motion picture talent agent, with International Creative Management./Photo courtesy of BWEL.